Profile

- Carly qualified as an Occupational Therapist in 2003. She has worked for the NHS, social Services, education, private and medico-legal sector to date.
- With an initial background in adult care (trauma, orthopaedics, general surgery, general medicine, palliative care and stroke rehab), Carly has specialised in paediatric care for the last 10 years. Carly is experienced in working with a range of complex and rare conditions including genetic disorder and working with children, families and the wider professional community to provide quality assessment, therapy, training, advice, provision of specialist equipment and supervision of students.
- Since leaving the NHS in 2016 Carly embarked on developing her career in the private sector. She became a qualified moving and handling and risk assessment trainer and provides regular training across the UK to hospitals, care homes, schools and publicly organised courses. Taught subjects include legislation, spinal function and back care, biomechanics, controversial techniques, risk assessment and hands on techniques including hoists and slings.
- In addition to her case management and trainer role, Carly is an Expert Witness and still sees private occupational therapy clients as work commitments allow.

Testimonial

"Highly organised and skilled at developing therapeutic relationships, I am able to communicate confidently across contexts, with a range of agents. I offer a person centred approach and a commitment to listening to the client and carer narrative. Drawing on my knowledge of moving and handling, risk assessment, specialist equipment, treatment approaches and legislation, I am able to support clients to achieve functional and quality of life goals".
